NEITHER CANDIDATE HAS ORDER TO SAY ON THE NEXT DAY

CITY HALL IS IDLE EXCEPT DISCUSSING RESULT OF BALLOT

Although Not Supposed to Do So, Employees Took Sides in the Campaign.

SOME FOUND SMILING; OTHERS DISAPPOINTED

Opinions Differ as to Why Short Was Defeated and McNamara Successful

Following the extreme strain of the campaign, Mayor Short and Mayor-elect McNamara appeared to be completely exhausted this morning. On arriving at his office in the city hall, Mayor Short was asked by a Capital reporter what he had to say to the voters on the result of the election. He replied with a shrug, "Not a word to say this morning."

Then he took his seat at his desk. W. J. McNamara was asked over the phone this forenoon if he had anything to say to the public, but he too was non-committal and replied: "I have nothing whatever to say, absolutely nothing."

It was an interesting study to watch the different expressions on the faces of the city hall employees as they filed by this morning. Some were wearing broad smiles and others were frowning. The Mayor-elect, who had been so busy during the campaign, was not supposed to take part in the election, they always held a considerable amount of time when they were free to discuss the results of the day after.

The gratification over the results of yesterday appeared to be most marked at the office of the street railway department. A great majority of the employees of the department were opposed to the present administration as they did not consider that they were being paid as fairly as they should have been. They had another reason to feel elated today, because the candidate nominated by organized labor had made a successful run and was elected to the office of alderman for the next two-year term.

There was really very little business done this forenoon in the city hall. Several of the aldermen and the mayor-elect were seen making the rounds of the offices and exchanging their views as to just how and what the day had brought.

Alfred Sheppard, who was elected to the office of alderman, was taken for another gentleman of the same name. Others again remarked that he pulled a big vote because he got out and worked for it.

That T. J. Walsh should have been left at home appeared to hurt quite a number of the city officials. They resented it out something after this fashion:

"Well, he hurt himself at that meeting in the audience when he was asked critical questions about being in the liquor business and then he had to take his share of the blame for the election defeat."

Some of the most intimate friends of Mayor Short freely declared that it was the election of proper organization in connection with his campaign that lost the day for him. Others blamed the loss of the popularity of the election commission form of government which was the strongest plank in the platform of the defeated Mayor.

But the general feeling was that it all over now and the bad feelings, if there are any really such as a result of the contest, will soon be forgotten and harmony will reign.

LETHBRIDGE ELECTS UNDER NEW FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Citizens' State Wins Out After Most Strenuous Campaign.

WOMEN VOTE FIRST TIME AND ARE VERY ACTIVE

Candidates Were Voted for on First, Second and Third Choice Plan.

Lethbridge, Alta., Dec. 9.—The big test in the history of the city municipal election was brought on yesterday. That the campaign throughout was followed by a great deal of interest was shown in the crowded meetings.

A feature of the contest was the introduction of what was known as the "citizens' state." This consisted of three men selected by a body of seven prominent business men and representatives of two political parties. The object was to ensure the election of three capable men and to keep the campaign clear of political and other matters. The plan was adopted by the organization were W. D. Hardie, the present mayor, for first commissioner or mayor; A. E. Grace, late engineer for the South Alberta Land company, of Medicine Hat, for commissioner of public works; and Arthur Reid, the superintendent of street cars and electric light, for commissioner of public utilities.

The organization was successful in having its three men elected, although the election of A. M. Grace is open to some question. The second choice of the plan, W. S. Harvey, chose to do so. The new charter is not very clear on the point, one cannot necessarily elect an officer from the present organization while another states a clear majority with 51 percent of the total vote cast.

Women Vote Too.

Women had a vote for the first time and also tenants. The former showed great interest and activity through the women's civic club. Special meetings were called and the different candidates put through a string of questions affecting the social and moral welfare of the city. A striking feature of the campaign was the fact that Albert Atkin, freeholder minister of the mining village of Hardisty, in the outskirts of the city. He placed his platform as the principal plank in his platform, strongly advocating a clean city. His utterances throughout were pretty plain and he obtained much support, particularly in the north part of the city.

The first count gave him third place, the second gave him second, and the third gave him first. The Citizens' League state a march in the early hours of the morning and the women's civic club, in large letters on the principal corners of the street parking. The success of his campaign by his organization, a popular victory was that of Arthur Reid, who had originated and had grown up with the city's utilities. He was elected to ensure his election in the first count, polling over 60 percent of the vote.

Final figures: Hardie, 845; Reid, 1,091; Grace, 825. If the charter is read in the morning, it will be with, though 184 ahead of the next man.

The returning officer will declare Grace elected at noon tomorrow. There is no protest to Candidate Harvey.

VIGILANT POLICE DOG TO PROTECT MRS. VANDERBILT

New York, Dec. 9.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., one of society's most active young matrons, has commissioned Carl F. Baer, the now famous trainer of German wolf dogs, to train one of his police dogs to act as a personal bodyguard to Mrs. Vanderbilt. Mr. Baer is instructing the dog in his duties at the Gedeon Farm Kennels near White Plains, N.Y., and it is necessary for Mrs. Vanderbilt to make frequent auto runs to the kennels in order that the dog and his future mistress may become thoroughly acquainted. The dog will accompany Mrs. Vanderbilt wherever she goes out unescorted.

Railway Mail Clerks Must Give Assurance to the Department That They Won't Indulge in Liquor.

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—The railway mail clerks employed by the Canadian government have been served with a very emphatic circular notice that in the discharge of the duty they are employed to render to the public, they must not consider themselves free to indulge in liquor.

"Each clerk is instructed to acknowledge the receipt of the circular to the department, and to add an assurance that he thoroughly understood and is prepared to abide by the instruction which it contains."

TODAY IS FRAUGHT WITH DANGER TO INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Situation in Dublin and Its Effect on Britain Causes Anxiety.

DELEGATES WILL MEET TO CONSIDER AID TO DUBLIN

Negotiations for Peace in Ireland Have Resulted in Utter Failure.

London, Dec. 9.—Today is fraught with grave possibilities to the industrial peace of the United Kingdom and Ireland. There are two factors which are causing anxiety—on the situation in Dublin and its possible effect on labor in Great Britain; and the other the postal situation.

Both involve grave possibilities. "As to the first, there will assemble today one delegates, representing 250 trades unions, and some 2,000,000 workers, to consider what shall be done by the workers of Britain to aid the strikers in Dublin. When Larkin first came across the Irish channel he was hailed by the English labor leaders that they could not concede to his demand for a general strike until a further effort had been made to bring peace to industrial Dublin. Then followed the decline of Larkin's power as a magnet for peace in Dublin and this overt necessity for a prompt decision by British trade unionists. But, unfortunately, these negotiations have not succeeded as was expected, when the English labor leaders stated off the necessity for a prompt decision by the workers in Dublin have resulted in failure, some people say because of the

WEST'S BURDEN CHIEF TO EAST, ASKS COUNSEL

F. H. Chrysler Makes Argument For C.P.R. and Hints at Desire.

RAILWAYS WILL FIGHT COST OF SERVICE RATE

No Authority That Such Method of Fixing Rates is Reasonable.

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—The argument on behalf of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the western freight rates case was continued this morning by F. H. Chrysler, C.P.R. agent, the chief counsel for the company.

Mr. Chrysler reviewed the historical aspect of the industrial development in Canada with the object of establishing that in the early days goods were carried by water. This had undoubtedly been a big factor in establishing a basis for the railway rates in the east. Mr. Chrysler contended that if the board should find that there is discrimination against the west, it should order a readjustment on the "present rate basis," and not undertake to establish a new basis of rates throughout the country. Although he did not say so, he seemed to indicate that the Canadian Pacific Railway would prefer to have some of the burden carried by the west shifted to the east, rather than a general reduction from the present rate basis.

The argument would also indicate that the railways are determined to fight the cost of service rate. He said "if our men pay $1.00 for a ton of coal in Ottawa and another $2.00 in Winnipeg, both probably get a railway or other company that Mr. Chrysler contending that this was a case of comparison or difference of freight rates, and not a case of discrimination in the country, and in order to establish uniformity it would be necessary to establish that the community has a right to suffer."

"It does not make any difference," he said "if our men pay $1.00 for a ton of coal in Ottawa and another $2.00 in Winnipeg, both probably get a railway or other company that Mr. Chrysler contending that this was a case of comparison or difference of freight rates, and not a case of discrimination in the country, and in order to establish uniformity it would be necessary to establish that the community has a right to suffer."

"How would you apply that theory to the farmers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta?" queried Chairman Drayton.

On such a basis as will permit the farmer to carry on his business and do so well that his example will be an inducement to others to do the same," replied Mr. Chrysler.

Mr. Chrysler maintained that there is no evidence before the board to show that the rates in the west are unreasonable, except by way of comparison with the east.

STREET CARS ARE UNABLE EVEN NOW TO RUN PROPERLY

They Won't Move at the End of Line and Lamps Won't Burn Downtown.

CHRISTMAS SEASON WILL BRING ON HEAVY LOADS

Woodroffe Appeals to Commissioners and They Refer Matter to Parsons.

That there is grave danger of a very serious shortage of power before the end of this month appears to be the tenor of a letter submitted by Superintendent Woodroffe, of the street railway department, to the city commissioners. He calls the attention of the board to the disorganized street car service which obtained last week and places the responsibility directly on the failure to supply sufficient power. He says even further and quotes from his letters earlier in the year, when he notified the power department of the amount of power he would require during November and December, but this he claims is not being supplied. The letter has been submitted to Power Superintendent Parsons for a report. It reads as follows:

"I regret to report that our street car service was entirely disorganized owing to the shortage of power. The power commenced to go down about 2:30, and at 4 o'clock there was not sufficient power at First and Jasper to light the lamps; at the end of the line the cars could not move. The condition has been bad for the last three nights, the voltage on the trolley has been low during the rush hours. It is impossible to maintain any kind of a service unless we are guaranteed a reliable and plentiful power supply."

"During the rush hours when our extra cars are out we should be getting a voltage higher than at any other time of the day, to make up for the extra loss in the feeders. I do not know whether this condition is liable to continue; during the next three weeks we are anticipating very heavy loads and intend to put on extra cars from time to time as the service requires."

"We notified the power department early last year that we would require three thousand K.W. during the peak load this winter. Last week I understand our peak load was only 2,600 K.W. and yet we could not get even this amount."

"The following is a brief report of the circumstances:

"I find in looking over our records that on Feb. 27, 1912, the superintendent of the street railway notified the commissioners that it would require 4,000 to 4,500 K.W. to operate the service during 1914. On Nov. 2, 1912, I notified the superintendent of the power house that we would require 3,000 K.W. for December, 1912. On Nov. 8, 1912, I again reported on this subject to his worship Mayor Short, stating that we would require 3,000 K.W. in November, 1912, and 3,250 K.W. in December, 1912. Up to the present time we have not received this amount of power, but I feel it should be available should we require it. Our records show that we have received power anywhere between 2,000 and 2,500 K.W. and 3,000 K.W., provided that service is rendered, and especially when such high tension as was witnessed on the streets last night."

It is also worthy of note that the Capital has a complete table of the vote polled yesterday for all the candidates in the field. These figures have been arranged in one group and the readers will have no difficulty in seeing at a glance how the votes were cast at all of the 23 polls.

CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Will Discuss Matters of Vital Importance to Members of Body.

PAINTERS AND DECORATORS TO MEET AT SAME TIME

Local Members Indefatigable and Are Looking for Large Attendance.

Contractors and builders and painters and decorators from all over Western Canada will meet in Edmonton on the early part of February, when questions of importance to their industry will be discussed by the foremost men in the country. Though the exact dates have not yet been definitely fixed, they will be so arranged that the delegates attending one convention will be able to avail themselves, to some extent, of the other.

The Western Association of Builders' Exchanges will hold its first convention of the western body, which was divided from the eastern section at the last convention of the Canadian National Association of Builders' Exchanges.

For this reason it is the aim of those who are organizing the program to make the gathering an unequalled success, and although the entire schedule of business and discussion has not yet been drawn up, it is anticipated that from the point of view of interest the coming convention will be of as high an order as any of the previous local meetings.

Local members of the association believe that the efforts of the organizers will meet with reward in the form of a record attendance, and that the inauguration of the western body will be a landmark in the history of the industry.

POSSIBILITIES OF RAISING ANGORA HERE IN ALBERTA

Oregon Men in Edmonton to Encourage Establishment of Industry.

DRY COOL AIR WILL PERMIT LONGER GROWTH

Two Years' Product Worth
$20 Per Pound, Meat Equals
Mutton.

The possibilities of raising the two-year hair Angora goat in the province of Alberta are great, says P. W. Ross, chief of the firm of Davis & Ross, re, Corvallis, Oregon. These two men who have been in Edmonton for the past few weeks with a view to encouraging the Angora goat industry in this part of the province, state that the climate conditions of Alberta are such that the raw material from which export mutton is made can be successfully grown in Alberta.

Just what this will mean to the farmers and stock raisers of Alberta is impossible to say at this early stage of the industry. While the climatic conditions of the province are such as to permit this goat to grow hair for only one year before shearing, the dry atmosphere of Alberta enables the animal to carry its two years' growth without any fear of disease. Here in western Alberta it is found that the goat grows from year to year in weight only 25 to 30 cents per pound. The two-year product is worth upwards of $20 per pound.

Since the early part of July until the present time, Messrs. Ross and Davis have brought into the province upwards of 1,000 Angora goats, which they have distributed to various farmers and stock raisers from Deer to Edmonton. Those who have had them long enough to know, state that this species of goat is an excellent brush cleaner. They live on small brush and mousins and they will come out at night and will readily eat and become friendly with other animals.

Value as Meat. Their value as meat is claimed to be equal to that of mutton, and is used in a large extent throughout the States, where the meat raising industry is extensively followed. In taste, it is much similar to venison. Because of its value as a foodstuff, the Angora goat ranks with other stock on the farm as an animal for profit. The meat is called "goat" and is sold in the same manner as mutton.

When it is remembered that the thousands of railroad coaches in America are fitted with seats upholstered with the mohair obtained from these goats it can readily be seen that the market for the expensive hair is one of the best on the continent. Its use is not confined to that of railroad coaches, but it is extensively used for upholstering furniture of all descriptions. Carriage seats and also made from this product. Mohair rugs are among the most expensive coverings that can be purchased. Woolen of the mohair is much more durable than the wool article. Dress goods, such as suits, frocks, and pajamas, are all manufactured from the mohair which in every use is in great demand for its rich coloring and durable qualities.

Railroads Use Hair. The railroads of the United States have required enough mohair yearly to upholster the seats of 500,000 coaches, which requires over 4,000,000 yards of the mohair goods. The following article from the "Angora Goat Journal," Boston, in Portland, Oregon, may serve to enlighten those interested in the possibilities of this animal on the prairie of Alberta.

The Angora goat provides most of the hair for artificial hair-making. A Montana man has two whose does have been measured 22 inches in length, and the yield from which was close to 2 pounds.

The hair was sold to a New York manufacturer of hair goods for 25 shillings per pound, or a total of $250. After made into hats the product retailed for more than $500. Every scrap of the hair was utilized.

It is claimed that the Angora goat is one of the most easily kept of any animals. It practically lives on grass, brush, weeds and small grain. In the winter, oats and hay are admirable food for this hairy animal. It will eat any kind of hay or straw. The age of the goat which is a very long hair, is 25 years.

Open Sheds Only. The housing of this animal, an item of interest to the Alberta farmer who intends to go in for the goat raising industry, is one of the simplest that is required for stock of any kind. Open sheds and all that are required. They like a dry place to sleep in and will run a mile or more to get in out of the rain besides the storm shelter. It is because of this reason that in the country where they are known, they are called the farm hound.

In regard to their breeding qualities, the Angora goat is capable of foaling until practically the average age of his life, which is 25 years. Many of them are very fine milkers, the product flowing to possess 16 per cent. of butter fat. While they are bred for mohair purposes their milk can readily be used for domestic use.

STEFANSSON SAFE IN ARCTIC ZONE; REPORTS OCT. 30

States that Karluk Was Swept Away While He Was on Hunt. VESSEL IS BELIEVED TO BE FROZEN IN ICE Has Twenty-five Men on Board and Plenty of Provisions.

OTAWA, Dec. 8.—Somewhere within the confines of the arctic circle drifts the little Stefansson's steamer, little vessel the Karluk, is safely frozen in an ice pack. But the leader of the expedition is not with his vessel, and the whereabouts of its whereabouts, according to a despatch received from the explorer today by Mr. Desbarrats, acting deputy minister of naval affairs and acting minister of marine and fisheries. It will be recalled a recent despatch from Seattle which reported the Karluk lost with all on board, while still later was reported safe in quarters.

Today's news sets rest all rumors, for Stefansson's report gives full details of his trip to the date of October 30. In brief, Stefansson's message states that believing the Karluk safe in the ice in longitude west 147, 15 miles off shore, he took a party ashore with him to hunt. The next day heavy fog came springing up and a fog when the weather cleared the Karluk was not in sight and undoubtedly been carried away by the wind which drove the ice pack off shore.

Plenty of Provisions.
So far the search of the Karluk has been unsuccessful, but as there is a crew of 25 men on board and plenty of provisions, no anxiety is felt for its welfare.

The message received today was dated October 30, from Peter Barrow, Alaska, and was sent overland from there to Circle, from where it was despatched on December 5. The message reads:

"The Karluk, beset by heavy ice on August 12, in longitude west 147, 15 miles off shore. Ship frozen on August 27 and drifted with the ice until September 10 when the drift stopped. On September 20, believing the Karluk safe for the winter and as it was necessary to secure fresh meat, I took Jensen, McConnell, Williams and three Eskimos ashore to hunt. Northern ice came up September 22 with snow and fog. When the storm cleared on the 24th the ice had gone and the Karluk was in sight. The ice undoubtedly went west before the wind. The Karluk may possibly have broken free and steamed east, but she probably remained fast and drifted west with the ice. Followed the coast to the north, but the Karluk was not sighted. The schooners Alaska and Sacha, with southern party are safe at Colville Point. The schooner Bolinder with her cargo of freight and provisions is wintering near International boundary. I am planning an ice expedition from the 14th meridian to the McKenzie Delta, making surveys and taking soundings for steamer route."

The Karluk has on board a company of 25, including Decker, Mackay, Macdonald, McKinnon, Murray and Malloch, with the members of the crew and five Eskimos.

(Signed) "STEFANSSON."

IN KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region, generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Most forms of food which overwork the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and then when your kidneys are thus overworked, you will feel aching and heavy. When your kidneys are thus overworked, also you may have backache, rheumatism, dizziness, spots, your tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you may have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often become inflamed, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Better consider a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Dodd's Kidney Pills. This famous salt is made from the seed of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize acid in the urine so it is no longer irritating, thus ending bladder weakness. Lithia is a life saver for regular salt water. It is inexpensive, cannot harm and makes a delightful, refreshing lithia-water drink.

The power schooner Mary Sacha, which Stefansson on October 30 said in his message was safe at Colville Point, was wrecked in the ice off the coast of Alaska some time between October 20 and 25, the date on which a letter was received at Nome, Alaska, from Peter Barrow, captain of the vessel telling of her loss.

The ice crushed the schooner into a lumbering, chief geologist and letter from Captain Barrow gave no hint of the accident. As nothing was said of an injury to the men on the Mary Sacha it was presumed they were safe.

The Mary Sacha was purchased by Stefansson at Nome for use of the southern party of his Canadian expedition. She was a general cargo steamer of 500 tons gross register. She carried a crew of three men and was built at San Francisco, Calif. in 1908.

LARGE INCREASE PRADIE REPORTS

Consul Says Oats and Barley and Beef Shipments Have Been Very Heavy.

Calgary, Dec. 8.—"Since the new American tariff was put into force on October 8 last, the movement of oats and barley from Alberta direct to the States has more than doubled, and from southern Alberta a record quantity of beef has been shipped across the line."

This is the statement made by S. O. Reed, American consul in Calgary, who since assuming his duties in this city a month or so ago has been making a rather extensive study of the effects of the new tariff bill on trade and commerce with and from western Canada. "I consider," he said, "that the removal of the duty on beef by the United States government will do much to encourage the live stock industry in this country. Before the new tariff bill came into effect there was very little beef shipped from this province across the line, but since the middle of October conditions have changed, and the export of live stock has increased. FOUR YEARS FOR SMITH ON FIVE THEFT CHARGES

George Smith, who yesterday pleaded guilty to five charges of theft in the district court, was this morning sentenced to four years imprisonment on each of the five charges, sentences to run concurrently.

The charges against Smith were fully stated in yesterday's edition of the Daily Capital, stating how, when Smith was arrested, three wagon loads of stolen goods had been found in his place. Five charges only had been preferred against him, although it was possible to place others to his credit.

PARLIAMENT DEFIED BY IMPERIAL CHANCELLOR

Von Bethmann-Hollweg Declares That He Had Not Resigned and Had No Intention of Doing So.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—The Imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, today defied parliament to pass amendments to the constitution pressed by the socialists which would make the Imperial chancellor responsible to the house for the acts of the emperor and providing for his dismissal upon the demand of the house.

Philip Scheidemann, one of the socialist leaders, at the opening of the day debated, moved the adoption of the amendments put forward by his party and appealed to the house to refuse to vote supplies until Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg had either resigned or been dismissed by the emperor.

The chancellor thereupon rose and declared the amendments proposed were a clear violation of his imperial prerogative and announced that he had neither resigned nor his resignation nor did he intend to do so.

CARPENTER KNOCKS OUT BOMBARDIER WELLS

CARPENTIER KNOCKS WELLS OUT DEFEAT PAINFUL SHOCK TO FANS

Actual Time of Fighting Was One Minute and Thirteen Seconds—Crowd "Boss" the Bombardier—Did Not Strike One Effective Blow—English Boxers Must Learn Infighting.

London, Dec. 8.—It will take London some time to recover from the blow which Europe delivered last night at the National Sporting club, when the French champion, George Carpentier, who, in a single round, defeated the British hero, in the person of Bombardier Wells.

The fight, which was scheduled to go 20 rounds, for a purse and stakes, amounting to $20,000, the largest ever offered by the National Sporting Club, attracted great attention than any contest in the past decade. Nervousness for days have been expressed, discussing the comparative merits of the two men, with the result that, although Englishmen were prepared to back Wells at even money, they were not over confident of the chances of victory, despite his advantage. In the matter of weight, height and reach.

Wells' biggest handicap, however, was his nerves. He entered the ring looking like a beaten man, whereas Carpentier was the coolest individual in the building.

"If Wells was the worst trained man in the world," says one account, "he would not account for the miserable exhibition he gave, as his training had nothing to do with it."

It was his nervousness, his lack of confidence, his lack of infighting, and his inability to give the best he had on a great occasion that lost him the fight, and will always lead Wells when he meets a born fighter, who is not also a born fool.

The same writer describes the result as "a Waterloo of British boxing," and the most inglorious event in the history of British boxing.

London, Dec. 8.—Wells' defeat was a painful shock to English sportsmen who, under the impression that his defeat was due to a fluke made him a strafe favorite. Wells, who backed freely, the prevailing odds being 5 to 4. The match attracted more interest than any fight held in England since the Sholto-Jackson contest. The National Sporting club was packed, and extravagant prices were paid even for standing room.

The crowd "boiled" Wells at the end of the fight and their fallen idol had some trouble in getting a hearing to explain that he was unable to withstand Carpentier's terrific assault on his side section.

Story of Fight.

George Carpentier of France, knocked out Bombardier Wells of England in the first round of a contest at the National Sporting tonight for the heavy weight championship of Europe. The actual time of fighting was one minute and 13 seconds. Carpentier made it a hurricane affair concentrating his attack on Wells' weakest point, his stomach, and soon had the Englishman writhing. Then, with a tremendous swing to the jaw followed by a smashing left and right to the ribs, Carpentier sent Wells down for the count.

Throughout the brief contest the Englishman did not strike one effective blow.

The fight was for a purse of $10,000 and a side stake of $2,000. It attracted great interest among sportsmen because it was the second meeting between the British heavyweight and the Frenchman within the last few months. There had been two previous meetings, and Carpentier knocked Wells out in the fourth round, after the Englishman had had all the better of the first two rounds.

Wells Was Nervous.

Wells' nervousness was apparent when he wasted too much time over the preliminaries to the contest, the spectators losing patience and making angry comments regarding the Englishman's tardiness.

When time was called, Carpentier came from his corner full of confidence and fought. He lost no time in starting and evidently saw that best tactics were not to give Wells time to feel his feet and recover his nerve. There was a momentary lull, then Carpentier delivered a blow over the heart. Then followed, at short intervals, a terrific right and left to the jaw of the Englishman, who fell to the floor writhing convulsively. He was still out before he could rise, the fight lasting 41 seconds.

Carpentier was still cool and was immediately edited and shouldered out of the ring. Wells finally rose and attempted to make a speech, but his voice was so weak that he could not be heard in any way the spectators were in no mood to listen to expostulations from their fallen hero.

Must Learn Infighting.

London, Dec. 8.—The Times comments on the Wells-Carpentier fight, saying: "It is clear that our boxers must learn to infight if they are to hold their own with the American, Canadian and such Americanized experts as Carpentier. He has studied the American style, which is the latest modern development of the art and has realized the superiority it confers over purely physical makeup. Wells preferred to stick to the accepted methods of the British school, and consequently although a fine boxer, was ingloriously beaten. His case is in fact exactly typical of the present position of this country in almost all branches of the art and will we deplore the lesson which is the moral of his defeat, we cannot begin to hope to reach our old preeminence in the field of sport."

Most Insignificant Event.

Other papers dwell on the poor exhibition of Wells and speak of the fight as "the Waterloo of British boxing," and the most inglorious event in the history of the British ring. The comment in fact ranges from amused cynicism, and slightly hysterical shrieks over England's lost prowess in the matter of boxing, to the collapse of the British flag.

The Daily Citizen says a terrible blow administered to British boxing and the Daily Chronicle tells the latest horror of how England's boxing prestige has gone.

The Daily Mail, an Amateur South African middle weight champion describing the contest in the Daily Mail, says: "The inglorious event in the history of British boxing, the Waterloo of British boxing before which the Knight of the Garter is insignificant."

The Telegraph, in its opening editorial says:

"As for British boxing, and bails Carpentier is a representative of the new French trained athlete."

PENNANTS WILL 'PRACTICE.'

Two practice nights have been arranged for the pennants this week, the first will be on Wednesday evening. The big event will be on Thursday night at the high level rink.

These two men, who were very largely responsible for the introduction of organized baseball in the prairie provinces, had a great deal in common for discussion. Lamb has been living in Vancouver and has been associated with Bob Brown, of the Vancouver club, and has got some very modern ideas on how to run an up-to-date baseball club.

He has been in the west recently moved to Calgary to live and is very much interested in the success of the game in that city.

"Remember Jack Lamb in 1909 when a touch time we had to get Calgary stirred up to enter the league," recalled Jack.

"You bet, but once the Calgary directors got interested, nothing could stop them. They imported a team that was going to clean up the league, but they didn't. They were a real Billy Hamilton team that came out of their heads, but they came right back the next year with Bill Carney and made things interesting and we nearly went broke down in Medicine Hat."

The pair went along in this train for some time. When the ancient history was treated in an unorthodox manner the modern history was overruled, and then the future came in for some consideration.

"I tell you one thing, Jack," said President Jim, "we are going to have some fun this year. We believe that good umpires are half of a successful league. I have been instructed to get good men at almost any cost, and I am going to do it. I can't get a fellow in line now who worked in the Three-I league last year and who has a bunch of recommendations as long as your arm."

"It's just like this," said the first secretary of the Western Canada League.

TWO OLD TIME BASEBALLERS TALK OF OLD TIME STRUGGLES

Good, Real Umpires Are Likely For Western League This Year—Has to Be Men Players Will Respect—Instructions Issued to Get Them at Any Cost.

Jim Fleming, of Medicine Hat, first president of the Twilight league and also the present incumbent of the office, and Jack Lamb, the first secretary of the league, were interviewed at the high level rink on Thursday night at the high level rink.

These two men, who were very largely responsible for the introduction of organized baseball in the prairie provinces, had a great deal in common for discussion. Lamb has been living in Vancouver and has been associated with Bob Brown, of the Vancouver club, and has got some very modern ideas on how to run an up-to-date baseball club.

"I tell you one thing, Jack," said President Jim, "we are going to have some fun this year. We believe that good umpires are half of a successful league. I have been instructed to get good men at almost any cost, and I am going to do it. I can't get a fellow in line now who worked in the Three-I league last year and who has a bunch of recommendations as long as your arm."

"It's just like this," said the first secretary of the Western Canada League.

The teams and the names of the players are: Calgary—Butcher, Hamilton, A. Stinch, Bowling, A. Kerr. Cambridge—McCoy, Thompson, Whitley, R. Davidson, Simes. Yale—C. Huttner, Kerr, J. Davidson, R. TWO OLD TIME BASEBALLERS TALK OF OLD TIME STRUGGLES

Good, Real Umpires Are Likely For Western League This Year—Has to Be Men Players Will Respect—Instructions Issued to Get Them at Any Cost.

Jim Fleming, of Medicine Hat, first president of the Twilight league and also the present incumbent of the office, and Jack Lamb, the first secretary of the league, were interviewed at the high level rink on Thursday night at the high level rink.

These two men, who were very largely responsible for the introduction of organized baseball in the prairie provinces, had a great deal in common for discussion. Lamb has been living in Vancouver and has been associated with Bob Brown, of the Vancouver club, and has got some very modern ideas on how to run an up-to-date baseball club.

He has been in the west recently moved to Calgary to live and is very much interested in the success of the game in that city.

"Remember Jack Lamb in 1909 when a touch time we had to get Calgary stirred up to enter the league," recalled Jack.

"You bet, but once the Calgary directors got interested, nothing could stop them. They imported a team that was going to clean up the league, but they didn't. They were a real Billy Hamilton team that came out of their heads, but they came right back the next year with Bill Carney and made things interesting and we nearly went broke down in Medicine Hat."

The pair went along in this train for some time. When the ancient history was treated in an unorthodox manner the modern history was overruled, and then the future came in for some consideration.

"I tell you one thing, Jack," said President Jim, "we are going to have some fun this year. We believe that good umpires are half of a successful league. I have been instructed to get good men at almost any cost, and I am going to do it. I can't get a fellow in line now who worked in the Three-I league last year and who has a bunch of recommendations as long as your arm."

"It's just like this," said the first secretary of the Western Canada League.

GREG GEORGE GOES FROM AMATEURS TO PROFESSIONALISM

Player on Queen's Team Will Play With Ottawa Aggregation.

Manager Le Sueur Captures New Man

Ronan and Darrah are Suspended for Refusing to Sign Contracts.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—"Greg" George, who played for the Queen's team during several seasons' play in the Intercollegiate Hockey Union, and who led the Ottawa section of the Interprovincial in goal scoring last season, will be a member of the Ottawa professional squad this winter. George, who proved the selection of the New Pittsburgh sports last season, was approached by the Ottawa manager, Le Sueur. He said that he intended to make the jump, and named his price, which was for an excess of what the Ottawa intended to offer him, but in view of his good record they have decided to come up, and George will sign his contract today. In landing the former Queen's man, the Ottawa have made the announcement that "Shen" Ronan and "Jack" Darrah had been suspended for refusing to sign their contracts. They were offered $1,000, but they want $1,500. The Ottawa say that they will break in new men to replace them. They have signed Shore and Broadbent, and their roster is now as follows: Lesueur, Merrill, Shore, Winsor, Chabot, Granary, London, Wilson, Penbrook, Stoddard, North Bay, and Broadbent, Ottawa.

MUGGSY McGRAW'S CREW FOR FOURTH PLACE NEXT YEAR

Phillies' Manager, Charlie Dooin, Thinks They Will Be Out of Running During the Coming Summer—Gives Two Other Teams Chance With Phillies.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—That the New York Giants will be out of the running for the title of "champion" of next year is the opinion of Charlie S. Dooin, manager of the Phillies during the summer, and some vaudeville performers in the winter. The returned leader, who is delving his turn at a local theatre this week, talked quite freely today of the National League race as "a lark" to him for next year. He did not come out and claim and pennants for his team, but he modestly gave two other teams a chance with the Phillies for next season's honor.

The Cubs and the Pirates are to be the aggressors, give the Phillies a battle next year, in his estimation. In view of the fact the Pittsburghers were rank failures last summer, it is rather surprising that Dooin should put them ahead of the Giants for his coming season. The Philadelphia leader is not the only well-posted baseball man that counts the Giants out of the running for next year.

Will Come Back.

"I look for the Pirates to come back strong next year. Fred Clarke and the material all right last year, but he could not get them going. In fact, I think the whole league is to be much stronger combination than last year. Phillies will not be any weaker, and I hope that they will show better, although we were never out of second place last summer."

"Our pitchers should be better. Alexander and Gibson were strong, but if we can get the help we expect from some of the other men on the staff the coming year we should be able to win many more games."

"Boston and Brooklyn should be stronger next year. If Robinson gets the kind of pitching he should get from Buckner, who was a failure last year, and Hootch, who was doing right at the close of the season, the Dodgers should make a lot of trouble for the first division teams. Stalling has started the travel out well in the first year, and we can expect to have a real battle every time we meet them."

"There has a mighty good ball team in the future."
